Report Number: HCEIT 008-22 - Worldwide Demo 6

BACKGROUND

A regular occurrence throughout the COVID-19 pandemic has been the coordinated Worldwide Demonstrations against public health measures. The sixth incarnation of this event is scheduled for Jan. 22 at numerous locations in Ontario and Canada. While these are typically held at the same location and time as the regular weekly Covid Denialist, they draw larger numbers in part because of hyped promotion but also because smaller protest groups tend to organize convoys to the larger centres. Convoys appear to be developing to both the Toronto and Ottawa protests.

While the information in this report primarily comes from 'open source', any opinions, assessments, officer safety alerts, or underlying investigative techniques are confidential and shall be protected. The recipients are wholly responsible for their subsequent use/assessment; and shall satisfy themselves as to accuracy and relevancy and indemnify the HCEIT and its members/employees from all claims and costs.

Jennifer ALMEIDA (<https://www.facebook.com/jj.pemberton>) is organizing the Kingston convoy, she appears to be based in the Kingston area.

The Kingston convoy starts from the Odessa On Route, stops at the Mallortown South On Route before getting to Ottawa.

The Pembroke convoy is being organized by Kirsten SCHRUDER (<https://www.facebook.com/kirsten.janz.3>). It leaves for Ottawa from the Irving Truck Stop in Pembroke.

The Toronto protest has a convoy coming from Peterborough, being organized by Peterborough United (<https://www.facebook.com/groups/3187514761352256>) and it's leader Tyler BERRY (<https://www.facebook.com/tyler.berry.102>).

The Peterborough group is meeting at the Peterborough Costco and then travelling down for the Toronto protest.

REDACTED REDACTED and REDACTED REDACTED are attending the Toronto protest, which typically leads to a bigger turnout.

ANALYSIS

Another factor that may increase turnout is the return of public-health related restrictions in January due to the Omicron variant. Typically when restrictions increased, the protest size also increased.

However, cohesion of groups could negatively impact turnout. As has been the case throughout the movement's tenure, infighting has impacted how groups worked together and who organizes what. This change appears to have occurred again.
